My Yellow Star is a Holocaust diary written by Luzzader, a young Jewish girl who was forced to wear the yellow star during the Nazi occupation of the Netherlands. The diary chronicles her experiences of persecution, fear, and resilience.

Luzzader was born in Amsterdam in 1931. Her family was well-to-do, and she had a happy childhood. However, everything changed in 1940, when the Nazis invaded the Netherlands. The Nazis began to persecute the Jews, and Luzzader and her family were forced to go into hiding.

For the next two years, Luzzader and her family lived in constant fear of being discovered. They moved from hiding place to hiding place, and they had to be careful not to make any noise or attract attention. Luzzader's diary provides a glimpse into the daily life of a Jewish family during the Holocaust.

In her diary, Luzzader writes about the fear and uncertainty that she and her family felt every day. She also writes about the courage and resilience that they showed in the face of adversity.

My Yellow Star is a powerful and moving account of the Holocaust. It is a testament to the strength and courage of the human spirit.
