Unveiling the Secrets of the Tower

Towering over the campus like a proud guardian, the UT Tower houses not only the university's bells but also a captivating story. Ascend the stairs to the observation deck and witness panoramic vistas of Austin, stretching all the way to the Capitol building. But beware, legend has it that the Tower's 99 steps bring bad luck if you fail to count them correctly.

Quirky Traditions that Define Longhorns

UT Austin is a melting pot of eccentric traditions that add a touch of whimsy to university life. Each year, students flock to the Littlefield Fountain on campus to participate in the "Fountain Run," a mad dash to be the first to leap into the water. Another beloved tradition is the "Smoking the Tower," where a thick cloud of celebratory smoke billows from the Tower's battlements after every Longhorn victory.

Exclusive Experiences for Longhorns

Beyond the well-trodden paths, UT Austin offers exclusive opportunities for its students and alumni. Join the Texas Exes, a vibrant network that connects Longhorns worldwide, and gain access to exclusive events, scholarships, and leadership opportunities. Immerse yourself in artistic expression at the Blanton Museum of Art, where you can explore world-renowned collections and participate in thought-provoking exhibitions.
